Team AeroDynamix Precision Formation Team - Backgrounder -

Gold Hill, NC – Team AeroDynamix fills the sky, day and night, with a stunning display of precision formation flying that engages audiences from start to finish with a graceful, powerful, and exciting aerial demonstration. From the moment Flight Lead Jerry 'Widget' Morris calls "smoke on" in the opening burst, Team AeroDynamix masterfully maneuvers its fleet through air show center to create an action adventure performance for spectators.

No other air show act in the world puts as many aircraft before the crowd at one time as does Team AeroDynamix. The resulting nonstop action is one reason spectators rate this show among their favorites, said Team Leader Stewart. "From the ground, people watch all of us flying into and out of difficult formations right in front of them, and they share the same sense of anticipation and exhilaration that we feel up in the air," he said.

With thousands of hours of amassed flying time in military, commercial, and civilian aviation, the professional pilots of Team AeroDynamix bring a diverse background to flight operations. This experience equips the team with the discipline and safety required for close formation flying. Often, less than three feet separates the planes during the show. The routine requires intense concentration and complete trust in fellow wingmen. The team trains and behaves much like a military squadron, but is a self-funded, civilian organization.

The RV-series custom-built aircraft flown by Team AeroDynamix are stressed for 6 g's and attain speeds in excess of 230 mph. Most pilots built their own planes, and no two planes are exactly alike. Each paint scheme creates a colorful palette for spectators. Children, in particular, tend to choose their favorite aircraft and are quick to identify the pilots by the color of their planes.

Team AeroDynamix creates a memorable experience on the ground as well as in the air. After landing, the pilots disperse through the crowd to sign autographs and answer questions for kids of all ages.

Exceeding expectations since 2002, Team AeroDynamix performs day and night routines nationally and internationally at air shows, aviation expos, civic festivals, special events, and sporting events.
